Once you've been to Rio de Janeiro, you know what the pulsating city of vibrant nightlife, steamy beaches and dramatic Pao de Acucar Mountain is all about. But Rio is also a city of stunning architecture, marvelous food and a teeming metropolis. For a glimpse of the country's natural beauty, we jet down to Iguazu Falls to immerse ourselves in verdant jungle trails and mist-shrouded cataracts. Once you experience firsthand the sultry sophistication of Buenos Aires, you'll quickly understand how the tango came to be invented here. The city steps quickly, pulses with passion, and shamelessly flirts with travelers. Our accommodations here are sure to seduce you, too – the elegant Axel Hotel, the world's only gay hotel chain. And in our Hermes small group, we'll move about with ease and take it all in at a relaxed pace.

ITINERARY IN BRIEF

Friday, March 18, 2011

Depart from Home

Board your international flight to Rio today. Many flights will depart in the evening with arrival into Rio the following morning.

Saturday, March 19, 2011

Arrival – Corcovado (B, D)

Upon arrival at the airport transfer to our hotel the Ipanema Plaza located on Ipanema beach. The morning is free for you to rest and relax and get acquainted with your surroundings. This evening Hermes Tours will host a welcome dinner & show so that we get better acquainted with our new traveling companions.

Sunday, March 20, 2011

Tour of Rio – (B, L)

After breakfast we embark on our full day tour of Rio including Corcovado & Sugar Loaf Mountain. You have the opportunity to visit the Christ the Redeemer statue. Upon departure, a 2-mile, 25-minute train ride will take you through the lush Tijuca Forest to the station on the top of the mountain. Afterwards we will make our way to Sugar Loaf Mountain. Before arriving at the mountain we will stop for a delicious Brazilian Barbeque lunch. The sugar loaf tour is done in two parts. You will take a breath-taking cable car ride to the first stop at Urca Mountain which stands at 721 feet. From there you will walk to the other side of the mountain to take the next cable car to Sugar Loaf Mountain which stands at 1,295 feet. There will be some leisure time at the top of the mountain before returning to ground level by the cable car. With spectacular views of Rio, the views are unforgettable.

Monday, March 21, 2011

Rio Free Day (B)

Your day is completely free to relax on the beach or perhaps engage in a little retail therapy! Your tour escort will have some ideas for touring options should you desire.

Tuesday, March 22, 2011

Rio – Iguazu Falls – Brazilian Falls Tour (B)

We transfer to the airport today and head to Iguazu falls. The mighty Iguassu Falls are the widest waterfalls in the world, made up of 275 individual falls that form a semicircle that stretches 1.6 miles. Viewing the amazing Iguassu Falls from the Brazilian side offers unforgettable panoramic views.

Wednesday, March 23, 2011

Half Day Tour of Argentinean Falls with Gran Aventura Safari (B)

After crossing the border into Argentina for this awe-inspiring tour, you will enter the Iguazu National Park, home to approximately 70% of Iguassu Falls. Walk along raised metal walkways above the water to the Devil's Throat Falls, the largest and most impressive of the 245 total waterfalls. The walkway traverses the waters and ends just before the drop off point for Devil's Throat. A rush of adrenaline pumps through your veins as you not only see the falls up close, but feel the power of the rushing falls, and oftentimes the sprays of the water as well. After we board boats for an exciting adventure to see the falls up close. After the boat ride, you will board open jeeps for a ride through the forest.
